Dr. Charles Cooper is an author, lecturer, church planter and church consultant. He is also the founder and director of the Prewrath Resources Institute in Orlando, Florida.

Born in Wilmar, Arkansas, Charles graduated from Ouachita Baptist University in 1982 with a BA in Pastoral Ministries and a minor in Greek. He received a Master of Theology degree from Dallas Theological Seminary where he was honored with the Harry A. Ironside Expository Preaching Award.

Dr. Charles Cooper

“Coop” has been a pastor for 19 years in addition to his other vocational responsibilities. He taught homiletics and hermeneutics at the Moody Bible Institute for six years. For 8 years, he was an instructor, biblical researcher, and education consultant for Sola Scriptura -- an organization dedicated to affirming the authenticity, accuracy and authority of the Bible -- the standard for truth.

Charles connects with his audience to communicate spiritual principles to church congregations, seminar audiences and with national ministries. In addition to his active speaking schedule, Charles plays golf for lessons in humility. He seeks to delay “Alzheimer’s” by reading widely and collecting antique cuff links.
